DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 22 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Claim 22: the encoding ring is on either the front or back of the syringe. Claim 1 already specifies that the encoding device is on the rearward end of the syringe.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-11 and 22-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The application does not disclose recessed encoding rings.

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 14 recites the limitation "the syringe wall". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kintner (US 4,516,969)

Kintner (Fig 1 and 4) teaches a syringe (20) for use with an injector, the syringe comprising a body (22), a plunger (24), an attachment member (66, 68) at the rearward end of the body; and a rotation member comprising a notch (58, 60) formed in the body for retaining a corresponding mechanism on the injector (Fig 5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-11 and 22-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Reilly et al (US 5,779,675) in view of Hitchins et al (US 5,944,694).

Reilly et al teaches a syringe for use with an injector comprising a body (118), a plunger (26), an attachment member (inclined surface 120 and shoulder/tab/ridge 126) at the frontward end of the body for retaining a corresponding mechanism on the injector (133). See Fig 10/11. The attachment member is an annular ridge (126) which is also a projection or tab member. See Fig 10. Regarding claim 8, 9, see flange 132. Regarding claims 10 and 11, depending on the orientation of the powerhead of the injector, the attachment member could be moved in either an axial or a vertical direction.

Reilly et al does not teach an encoding device located on the body of the syringe.

Hitchins teaches a syringe body (50) for use with an injector (20) where the syringe includes coding (190,192). 190,192 are expressly disclosed as recesses and they are provided discontinuously on the circumference of the syringe body. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the known technique of an encoding ring on a syringe with the device of Reilly in order to provide an indication of the medication contained with the syringe or the size of the syringe, for example.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Regarding Hitchins, applicant "believes" that the expressly disclosed recessed encoding rings of Hitchins are different from the applicants, but provides absolutely no explanation of the differences.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
